

RULES

1

Do not lift this panel until your portable brain irradiator (phone) timer is set and you are ready to start the game. Or, if you want to be internationally famous on my leader board, follow the instructions on the top of this panel and I'll keep time for you 'cause I'm the nicest.

2

You have ONE HOUR to discover the clues, solve the puzzles and put it all together to find the antidote.

3

Everything you need to win has been given to you. EXCEPT: Your timer device, hot (not burning!) water (NOT for paper), and extra pencils. Looking at your phone/computer/Encyclopedia Britannica/etc for anything other than the time is CHEATING.

4

Don't eat anything in the game. This should be obvious. But I work with a bunch of animals.

5

Brain not Brawn! You do not need to cut, tear, punch, bite, claw or generally destroy anything to complete your goal. You will need to open, untie and unscrew.

6

You will inevitably think you are so very clever for guessing the lock combination. Well, guess what? If you brute-force/pick the lock, the antidote won't work. Automatic-werewolf.

TIPS FOR SUCCESS

1

Elect a leader to oversee everything, fill in the answer sheet (A1, etc.) and make sure all puzzles are being worked on.

2

This is a cooperative game, but for the sake of time: Divide and Conquer! If you get stuck: Switch puzzles.

3

Look EVERYWHERE. Use EVERYTHING. Everything has a purpose, some things have more than one.

4

There are no intentional red herrings.

5

If you're reeeeeaaallllly smart you can win this game in 14 minutes, so NEVER wait around.

6

Fo' realz. DON'T put the paper in the water.
